PRINCIPALS AND COUNSELORS . . .

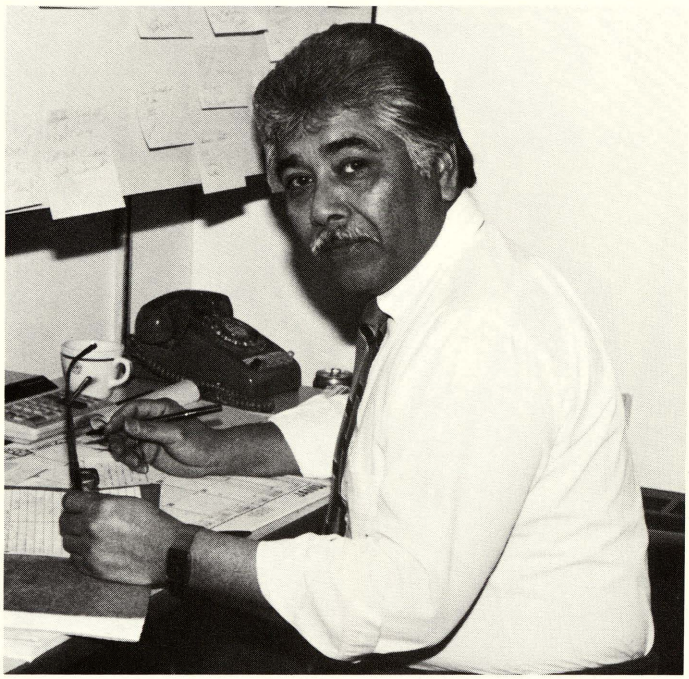
Dr. Robert Crane, principal of South Intermediate, makes the morning announcements.

Assistant principal Mark Frost is pleased when no students are sent to his office for discipline.

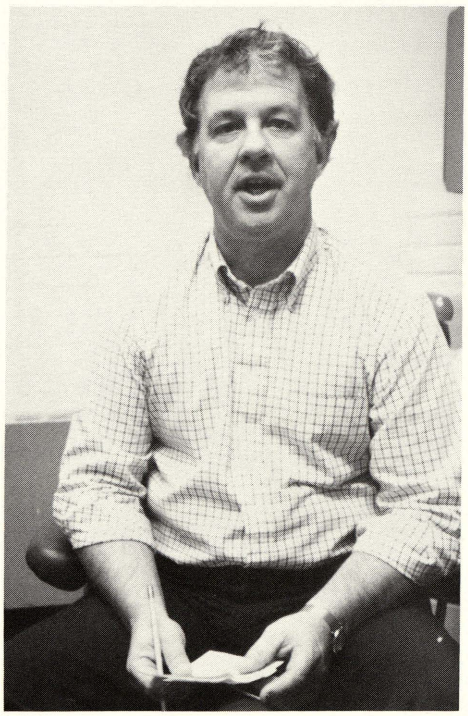
Mrs. Doreen Leek, assistant principal, supervises the development of instructional guidelines for students.

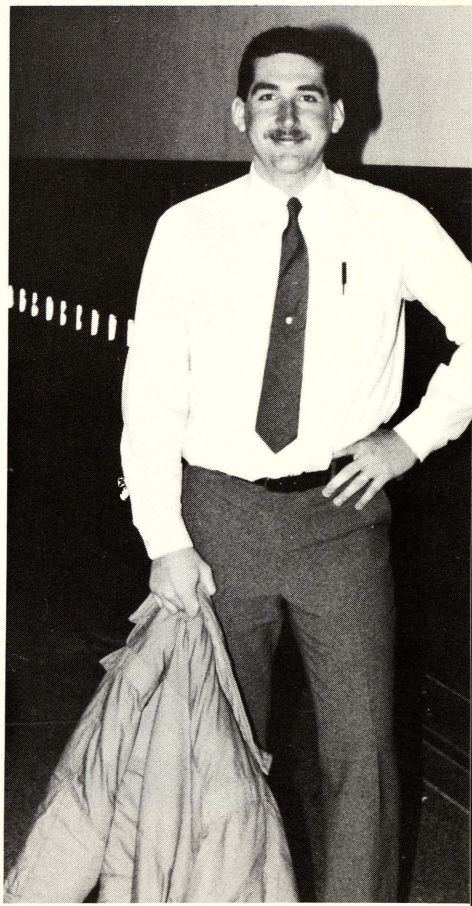
. . . REBELS FOR A CAUSE

Mr. James Snyder checks on class scheduling.



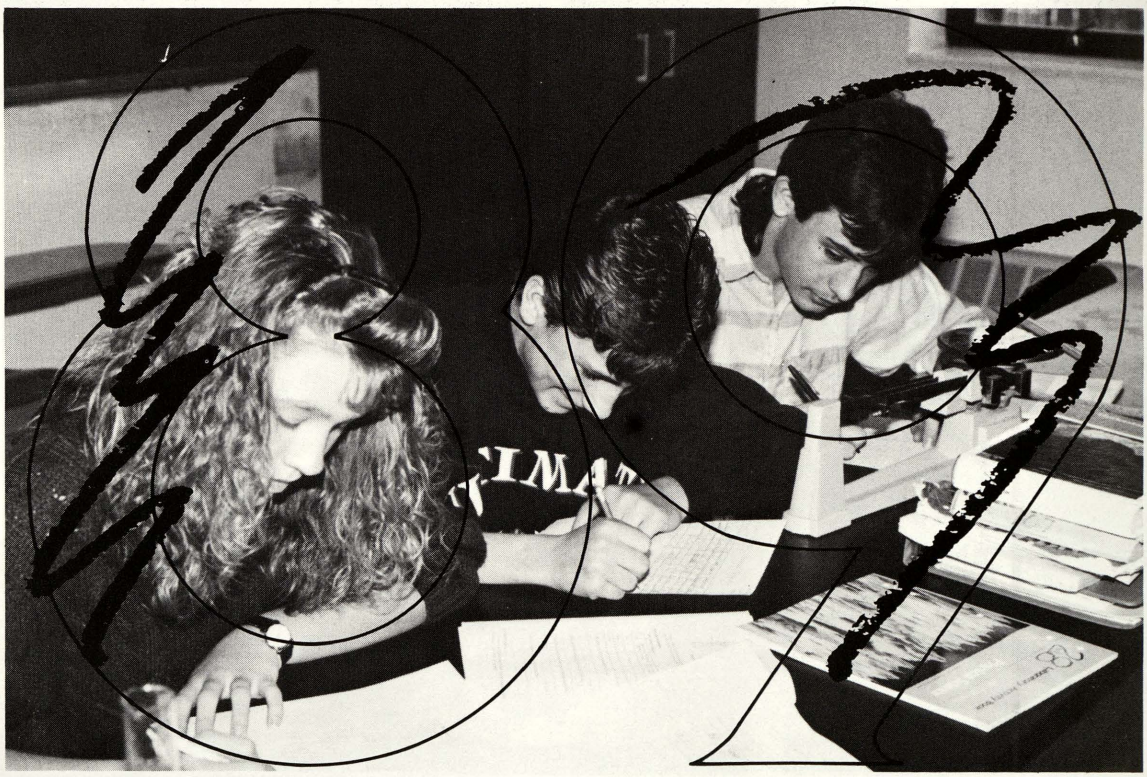
Mr. Joe Garza concentrates on bilingual counseling.

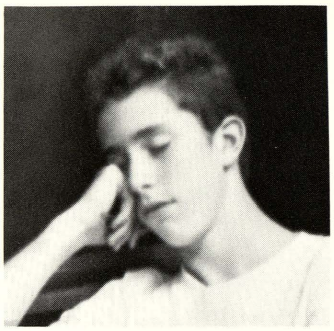


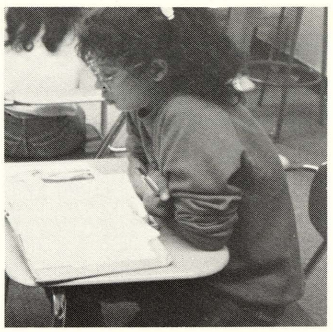


(Above left) While Dr. Laverne Youngblade counsels eighth graders, and (above center) Mr. Larry Roth focuses on those in seventh grade, Mr. Tom Holtschlag (right) works as resource officer for the entire school.

Academics







ENGLISH

A CENTER FOR ORGANIZATION

A CENTER FOR ENRICHMENT

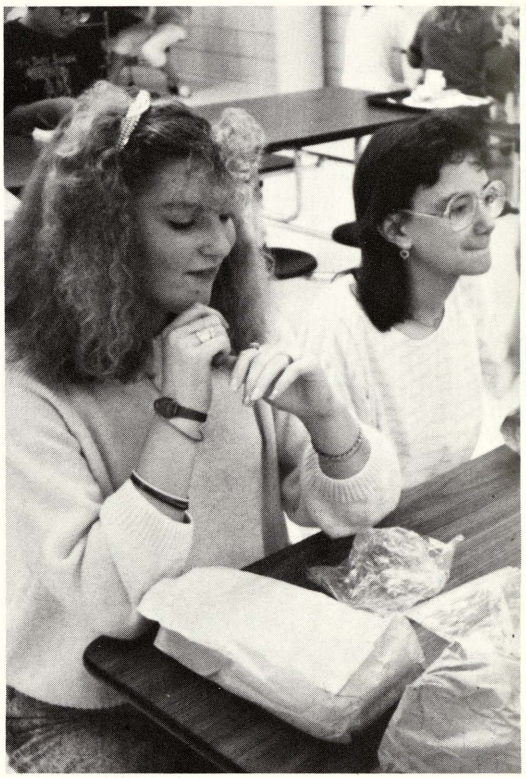
Library workers: (front row) B. Hatch, L. Kruse, J. Senske, J. Hawthorne, M. Gubody, S. Peake; (back row) J. Jaksa, L. Specht, M. Dana, L. Gorr, S. Love, C. Girard.



South's remodeled cafeteria has a new look: it's much larger and offers expanded services. With the coming of closed campus, more students are taking advantage of the school's food center. (Above) James Ervin and Jim Peake would rather concentrate on food than photos. (Upper right) Becky Dixon and Sarah Cable are not about to divulge any secrets, while Pearl Archambault and Sara Delaney (center right) share a laugh. Zaida Velazquez and Esveida Sanchez (left) enjoy the cafeteria food.

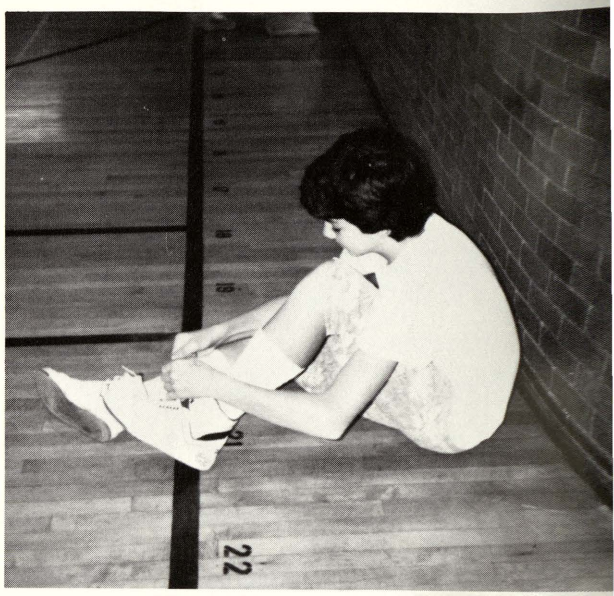
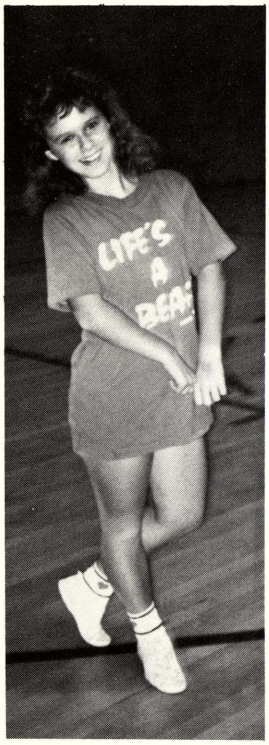
WORK THAT BODY

Physical ed. teacher Ms. Teter shows how it's done.

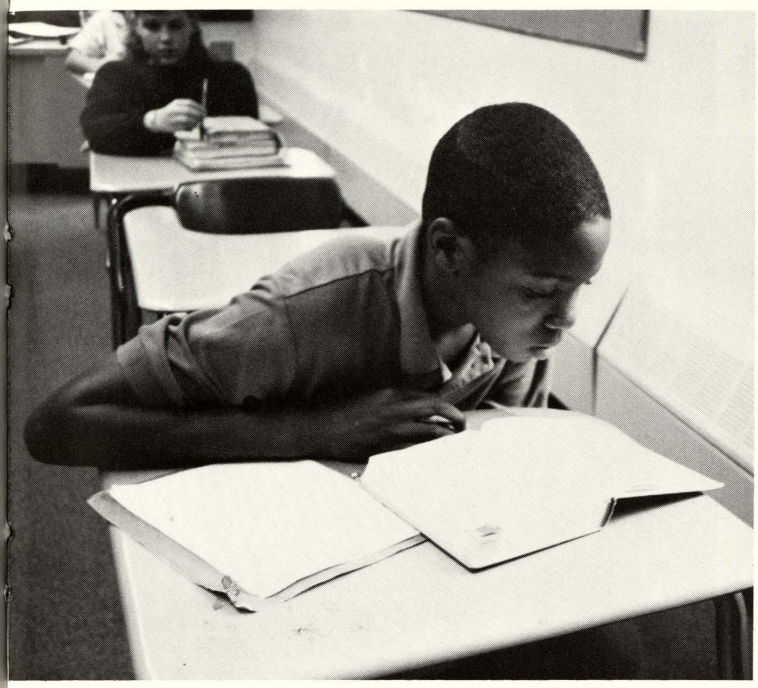


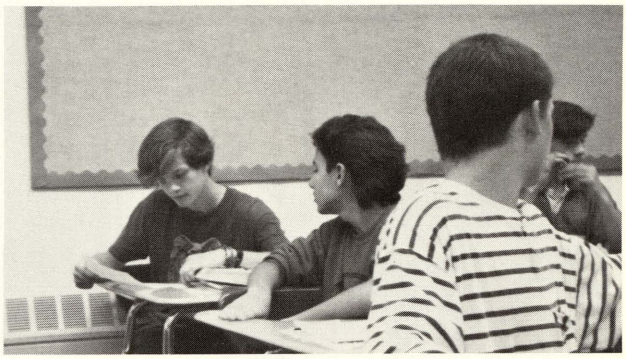
Chad Kolhagen gets ready for a heavy-duty workout. Time to get down to business!



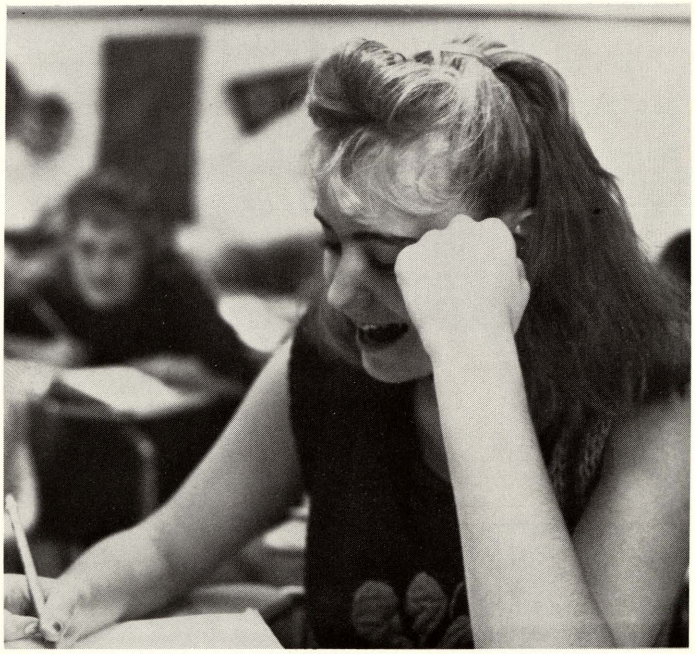
Laure Thebolt looks quite enthusiastic.

"No pain, no gain!" Brent Shaddeau tries to keep that slogan in mind while he and fellow classmates prepare to go through a grueling aerobics routine.





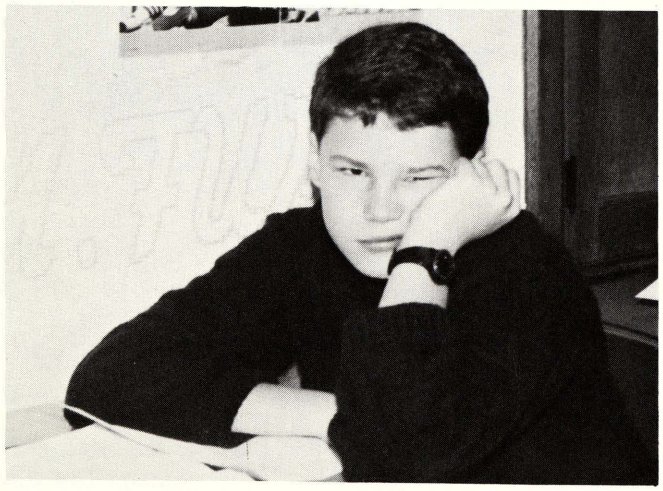
(Upper left) Augustus Richards works hard, while (upper right) some students seem distracted. (Center right) Jeremy Northrup checks on an assignment. (Lower left) Amanda Macomber looks up for a moment. (Lower right) Kelly Libby finds English fun.



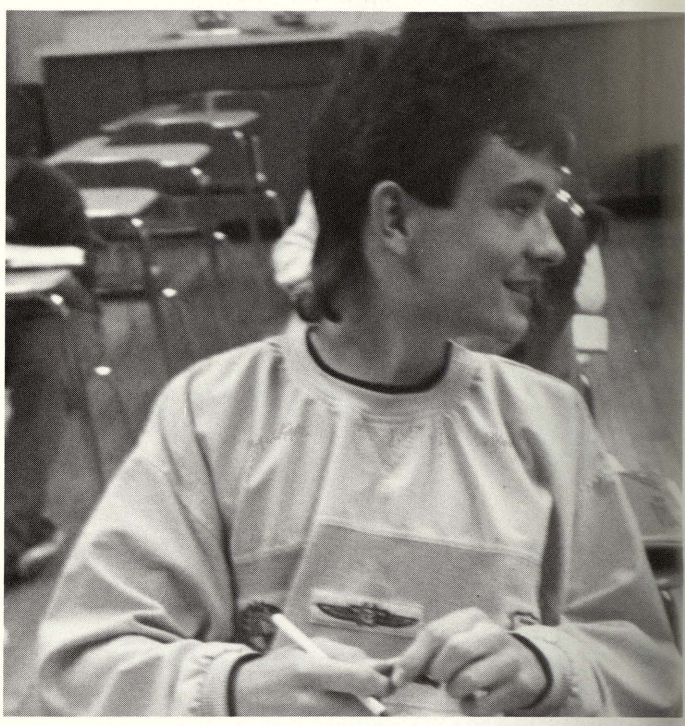
WORK THAT GRAMMAR

MATH: THE ADDITION GOES ON

Joanna Stamann and Mrs. Brand focus on a problem.



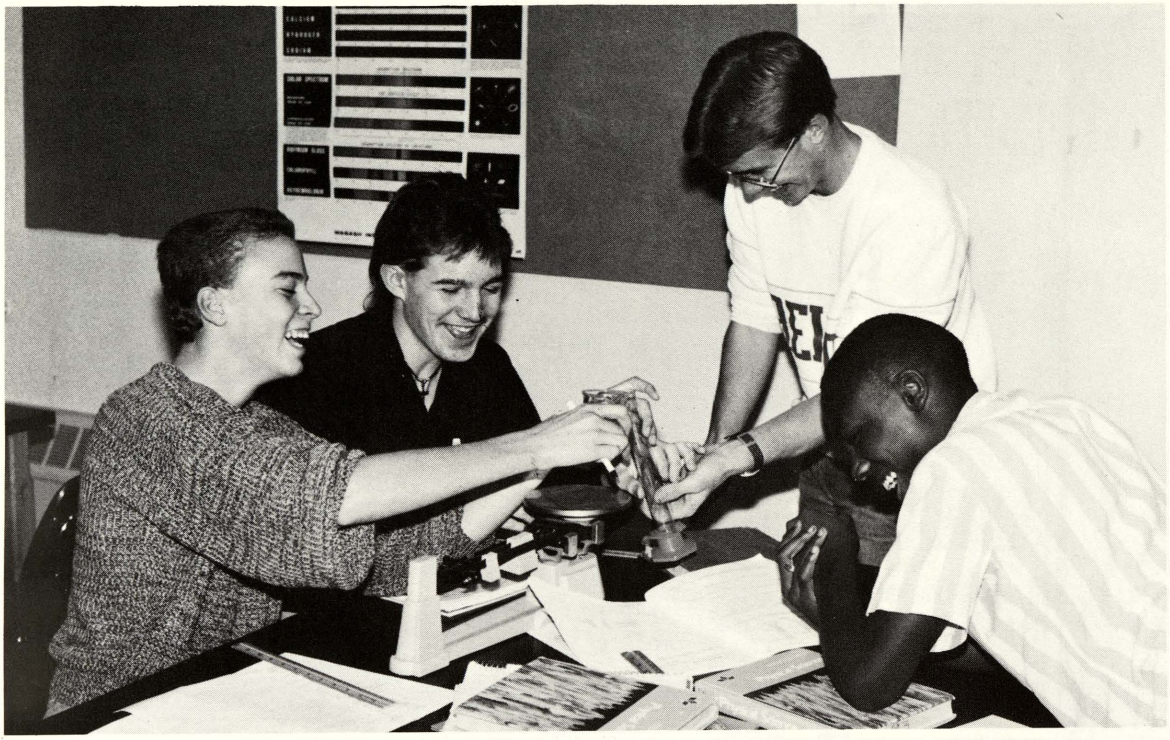
Todd Powell doesn't seem to find math very exciting.



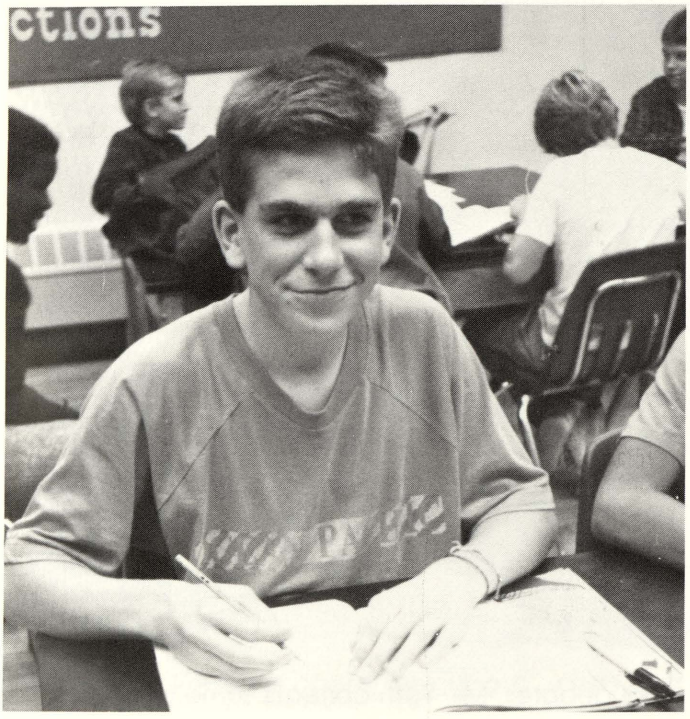
Socialite Rick Miller is not exactly paying attention to his assigned math exercises.

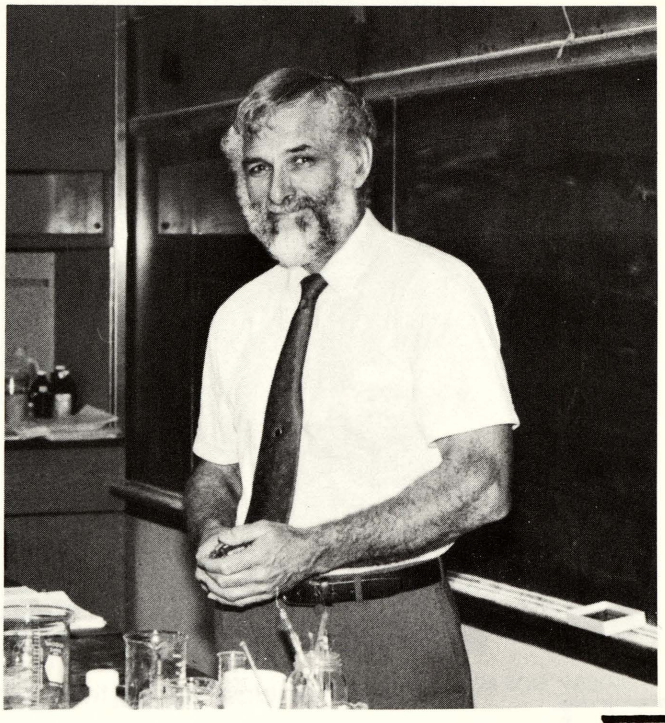
"Work, work, work," thinks Joe Kiefer while he concentrates on his decimals homework.

SCIENCE: THE ELEMENTS OF LIFE

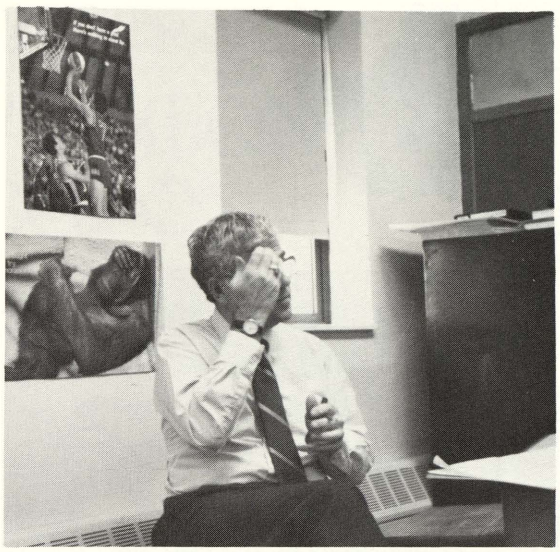


(Above) Students Alan Losee, Rick Czymbor, Sean LeRoux, and Andre Douglas find the fun in science. Joe Howe (lower left) and Mr. Wilkinson (lower right) also seem pleased with the subject.

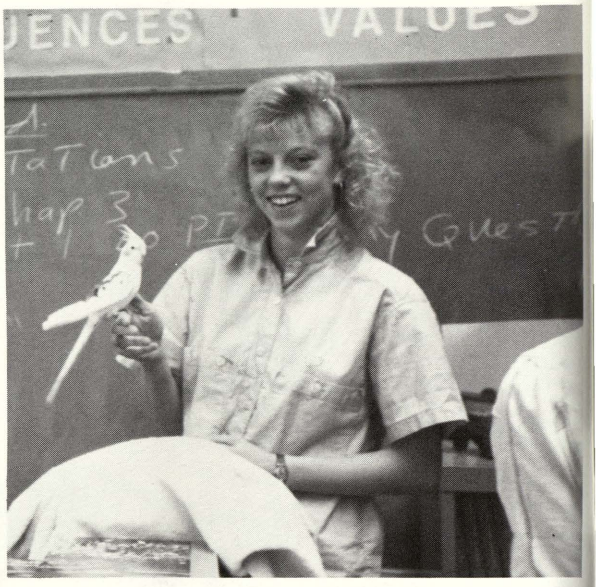




ECONOMICS

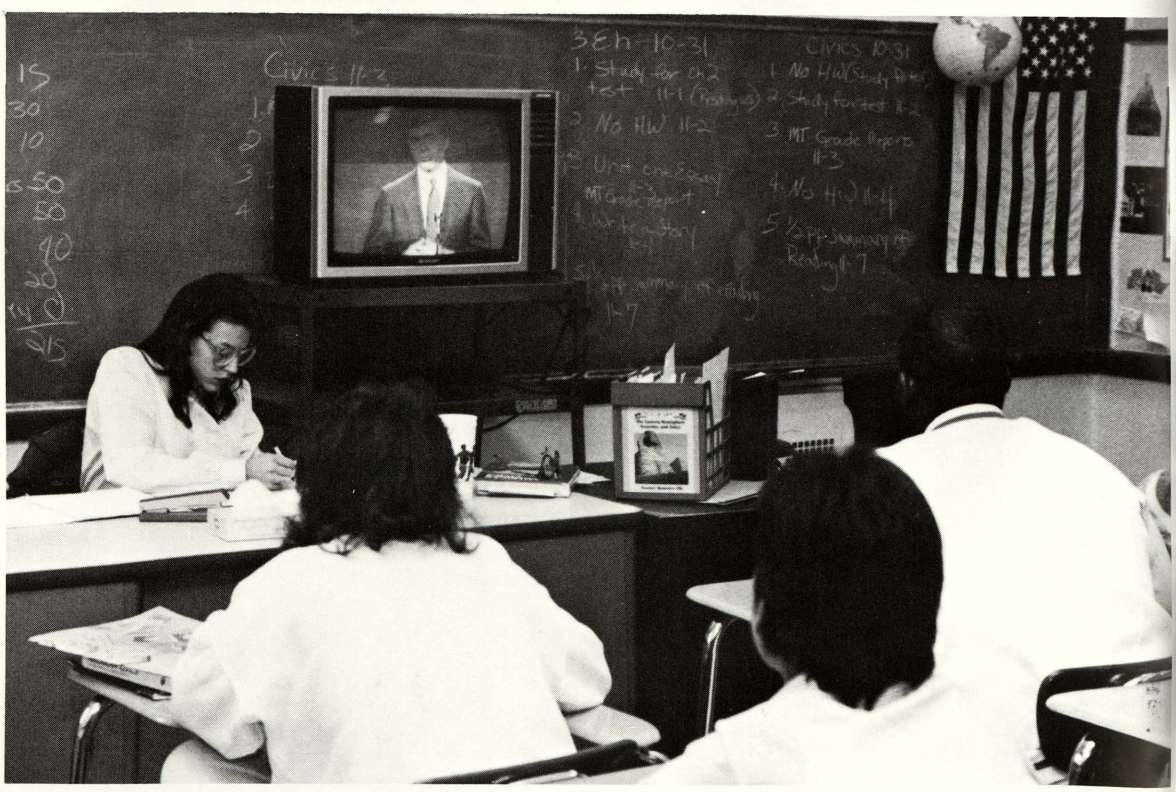


Mr. Kempf uses his famous gesture as he watches student presentations.



Jodi Miller shows off her yellow cockatoo.

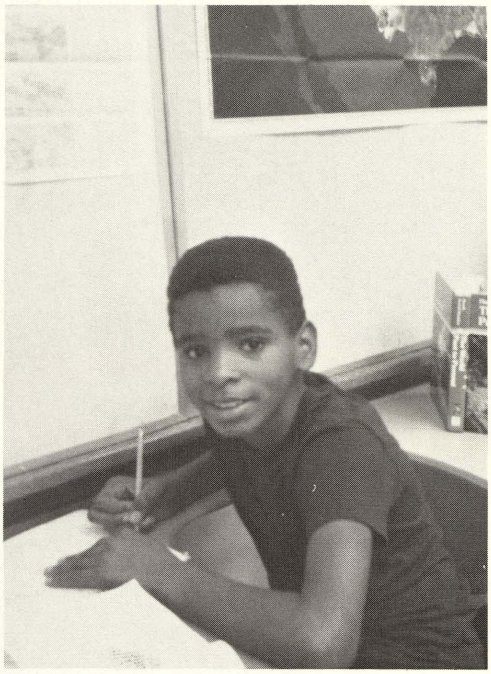
CIVICS



While her class studies the presidential debates, Ms. Toth corrects some papers.

GEOGRAPHY AND HISTORY

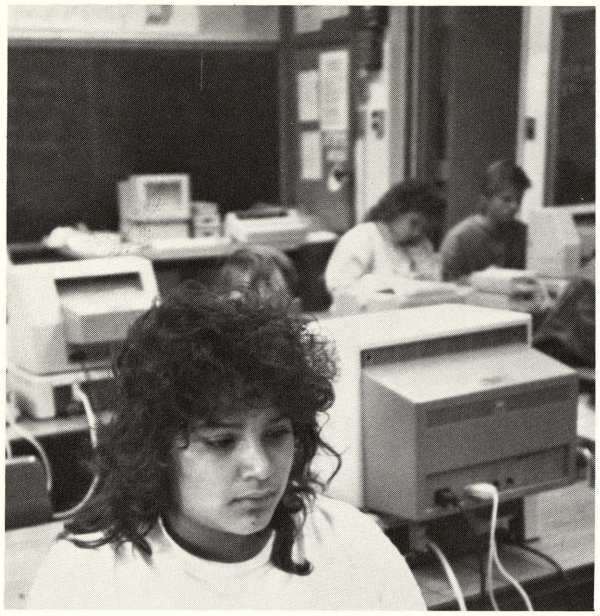
Eighth grader Christi Lopez seems somewhat pleased after learning about the historic route of Lewis and Clark.



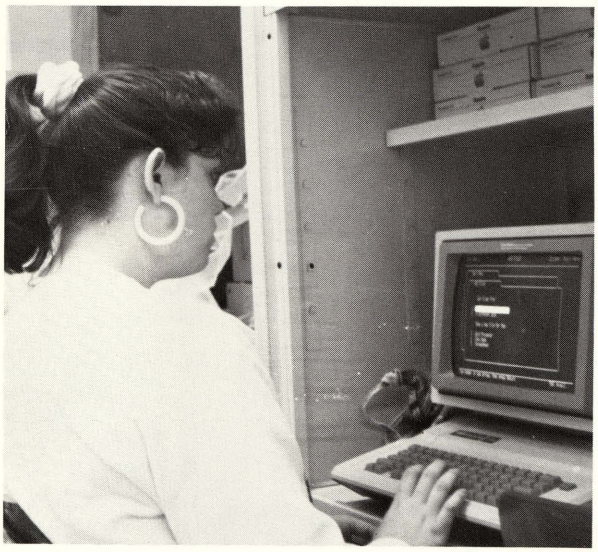
From the look on his face, Smith Barner thinks geography is great.

Shane Nickerson is openly enjoying a class discussion.

Julie Truckner smiles as she works.



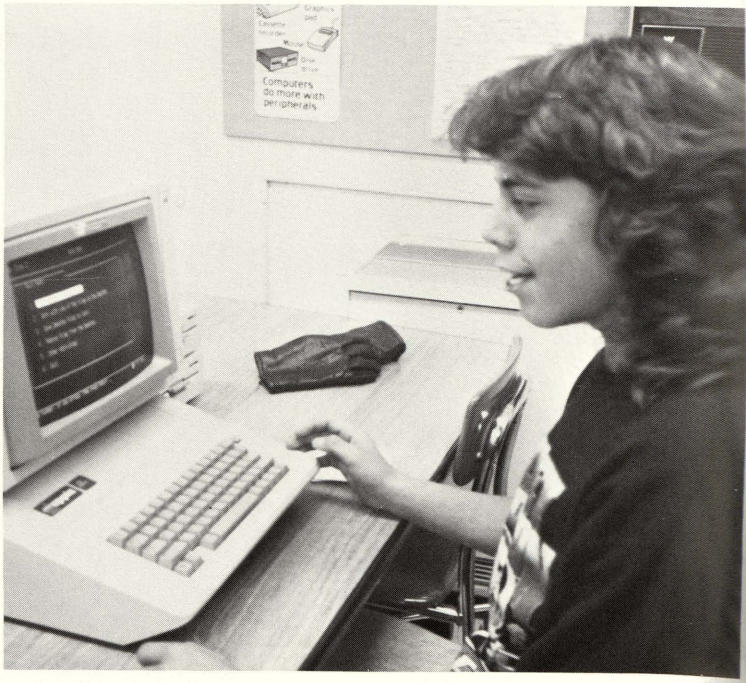
Patti Palomares intently studies the screen.



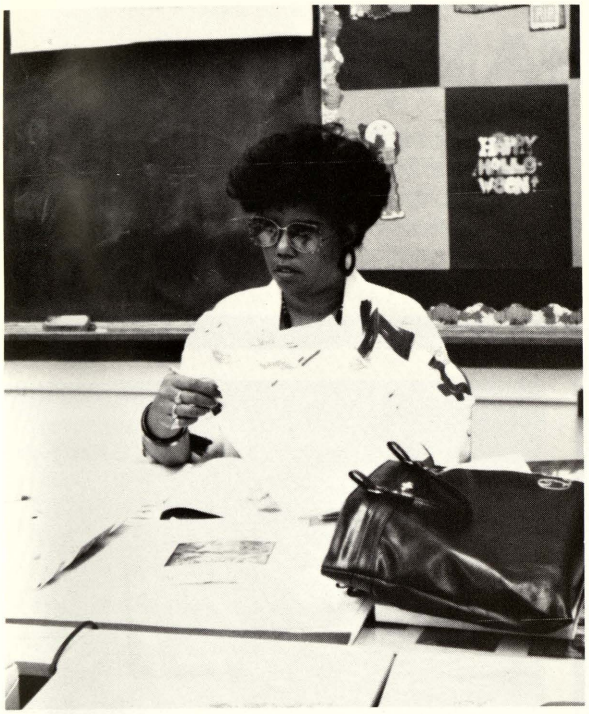
Regina Duval makes her programming selection.

TAKING A BYTE OUT OF THEIR "APPLES"

Mrs. Batista helps computer student Shayla Crockett.



Dan Wieland seems pleased with the monitor's message.



Mrs. Neely demonstrates a new procedure.

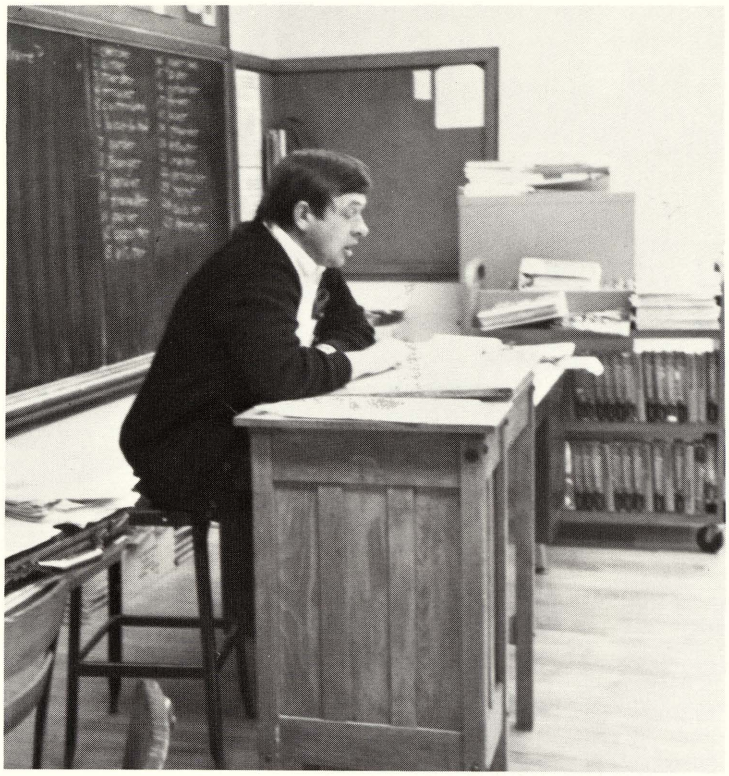
Kelly Rivett presses the space bar, then waits.

Robert Flores carefully checks over his work.

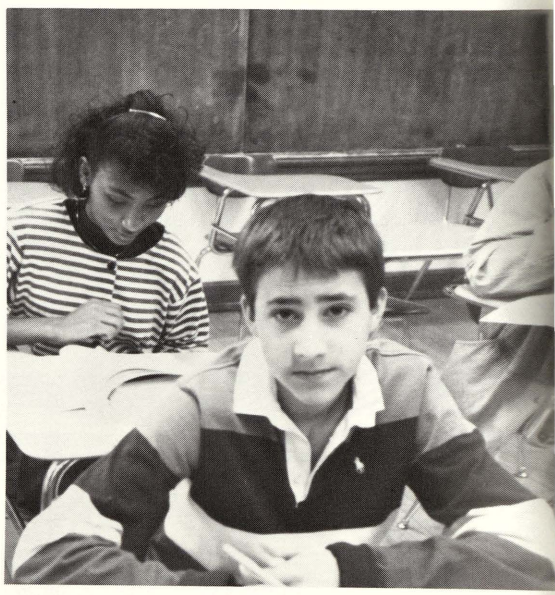
Carli Colmus and Kelly Byrne set their margins.

KEYING IN TO TYPING CLASS

LA CLASSE DE FRANÇAIS



(Left) Mr. Jacobson explains a fine point of French grammar, but Jeff Leo (below center) still seems puzzled. (Bottom left) Kara Barkley finds her translation amusing. (Bottom right) Brandi Siler thinks about her answer.



LA CLASE DE ESPAÑOL

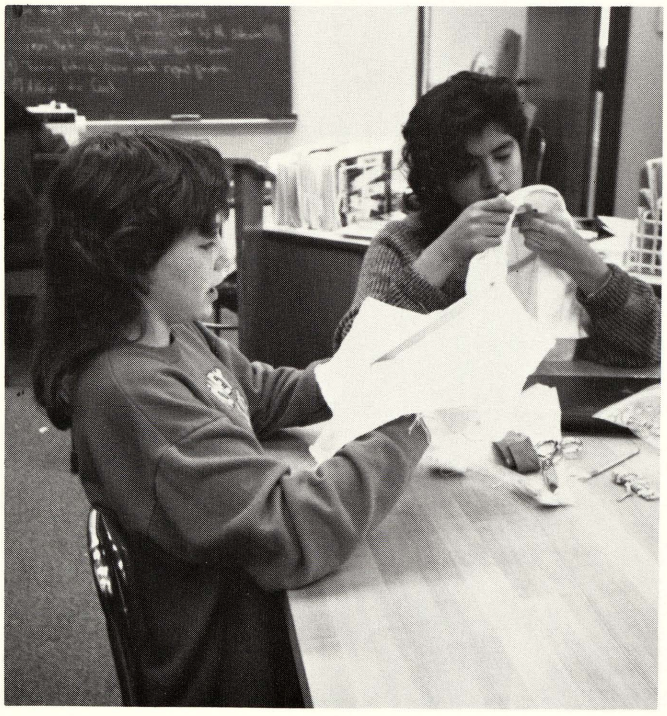
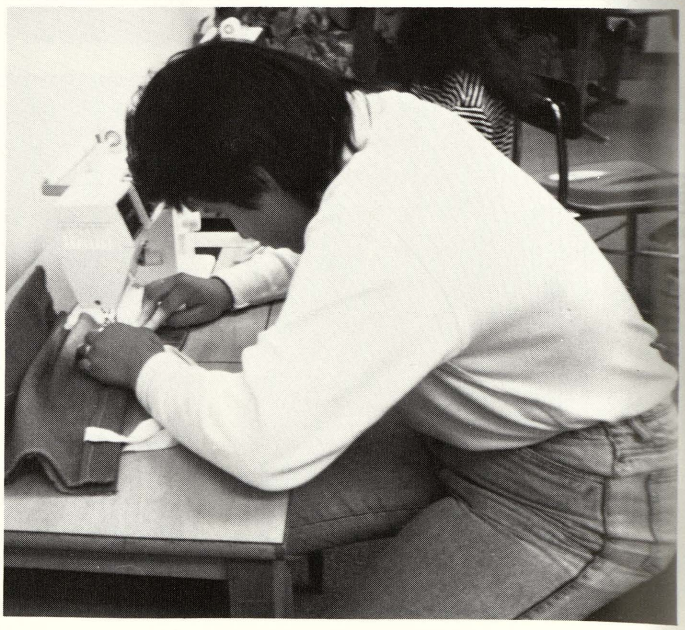
(Upper left) "Is everything there?" wonders cooking student Marcia Henne, while Alan Kaufman (upper right) seems to be ready and waiting for Mrs. Williams' inspection.

TALENTED HANDS CREATE . . .



Michelle Volz and Yolanda Hernandez concentrate.



Veronica Garcia makes sure to watch her fingers!
